CLASSICAL WARRIOR ARMY LIST ERRATA

To March 2014

Any updates or corrections are shown under the specific list. Lines refer to the line starting underneath the list or from the top of the page if the list runs more than a single page and also reference a complete entry, not just a carryover from a previous line.

GLOBAL CHANGE: Unless otherwise specified, Elephants may have detachments of Elephant Escorts if the latter are in the army list.

GLOBAL CHANGE: Note that placement of immobile TFs per List Rules must abide by the terrain positioning rules of 14.31. For this purpose, open spaces are still considered to be in place through deployment.

GLOBAL CHANGE: General Concepts (page 4): First paragraph, add new sentence at end: "The 'rounding concept' applies only to upgrades that are separately stated to be available to a proportion of troops".

GLOBAL CHANGE: General Concepts (page 4): Delete the second paragraph and replace with the following:

> "Generals' elements may be in a mixed unit with troops of the same Training (Warrior 2.1) and Order (Warrior 2.21), and in addition Knights, Cavalry, and Camelry can only be mixed with troops in the same Troop Category (Warrior 2.23) and Elephantry, Chariotry and Transport can only be mixed with troops of the same Troop Type (Warrior 2.22), except where an army list specifies that such troops can mix with others in this list. Being "Mounted" does not count as being in the same "Category" for these purposes. A general's element in a mixed unit does not prevent troops otherwise entitled under a list rule from fighting 1.5 ranks, provided the general's element is of the same nationality and armed the same as those troops. A general's element can be included in a detachment only as specified by a list. Generals' elements do NOT count toward the minimum or maximum of any troop line in a list except their own. Generals' elements count toward fractional or other numerical limits in a list only when they are part of a unit."

GREEK INFANTRY RULES:
Second line, after "16" add "(also included Citizen Hoplites)"

Lists 3, 17: The ally references in the Notes to "no others" should be read to mean no other sublist allies (and, in the case of List 3, Thessalians from the main list), and not to the generic ally generals in the main lists or the troops under their command. None of the sublists is a stand alone allied contingent; each just specifies how troops from the main list can be used when playing that "nationality". Any army can use not only the CinC (modified if necessary by a sub-list) but also the generic ally generals listed in the main list (with one exception of the Phokians in List 17, for which all such generals must be downgraded to sub). Note that, for those sub-lists that include special treatment for a "national" general (e.g., Spartan or Theban in List 3), only such a "national" general (be it CinC of sub) can command troops from that national sub-list. For a full explanation of this issue, go to www.fourhorsemenenterprises.com/forum/viewtopic.php?t=16862.

X-TROOP TYPE – Irregular Hoplites
While the authors believe that Greek Hoplites should be treated as Reg in Warrior, they recognize a body of wargaming opinion that sees them as Irr. In order to accommodate this view, the following may be applied to any troops named "Hoplites" in Lists 3, 6-8, 11, 13 and 17, and those containing the name "Greek Hoplites" in Lists 4, 5, 9, 15, 16 (including Citizen Hoplites) and 18, and to generals' elements incorporated into units with such troops:

Reduction to downgrade Hoplites to Irr @ - 3 pts if general's element, @ -4 pts if otherall/none
Extra to give JLS to units entirely of Irr HI Hoplites @ 3 pts if general's element, @ 4 pts if other .... all/none

Lakedaimonian/Spartiate Hoplites in Lists 3 and 17, and Theban-led Boiotian Hoplites in List 17, are exempt from the "all/none" requirement when using Irr Hoplites and may be Reg; all other hoplites within an army containing such troops must be Irr if any are. "Barbarian Infantry Rules" do not apply to Irr Hoplites, and Lakedaimonian/Spartiate Hoplites in Lists 3 and 17, and Theban-led Boiotian Hoplites in List 17, may not use the List Rules for such troops in those lists if they are Irr. Irr Hoplites may have a detachment of Archers of the same nationality where such troops are available in the list.

X-TROOP TYPE - Ekdromoi
This X-Rule models the capability of the fully-developed Hoplite phalanx to detach men of the younger age classes as ekdromoi or "runners out," usually to chase off enemy light-armed missile troops, returning immediately to the ranks after the initial brief rush. Their mission was limited in time and scope, and they did not constitute a detachment in the ordinary sense. This X-Rule applies only to troops named "Hoplites" in Lists 3, 6-8, 11, 13 and 17, and those named "Greek Hoplites" in Lists 4, 5, 9, 15, 16 and 18, and to generals' elements in those lists incorporated into a unit with such troops:

- A body of 6 or more elements of such troops may detach two contiguous front rank elements as ekdromoi during the Charge Declarations phase (Warrior 3.2.7, 6.163), and immediately replace the detached elements in place with their loose order equivalent (i.e., HI are replaced with LHI, and MI are replaced with LMI). The parent body need not comply with Warrior 2.52 to detach ekdromoi, but must be in compliance by the end of the following Approach phase.
- Such detached elements are thereafter treated for all purposes as a detachment, except that (i) they must make a recall move when other bodies may do so under Warrior 6.36, (ii) starting in the bound after detachment, they must move as quickly as possible to rejoin their parent body, and (iii) they must be reincorporated into their parent body (and replaced with their close order equivalent) at ANY time any element of such a detachment is in contact with any element of its parent body.
- Neither detachment nor reincorporation counts as a maneuver. No command points are paid for such detachments. When ekdromoi are reincorporated into their parent body, the combined unit immediately gains the higher of their FP totals (Warrior 5.31).

Ekdromoi never fight as such when in contact with the parent body, but always revert to their close order equivalent in such circumstances, and thus may not expand in a followup move by the parent body.

ROMAN INFANTRY RULES
The "fulcum" rules as outlined in Imperial Warrior apply to the following troops:
List 6, Thracian Late Period, Roman Legionaries (NOT Imitation Legionaries)
List 28, Ptolemaic Late Period, Garrison Roman Legionaries (NOT Imitation Legionaries)

List 36, Numidian Civil Wars/Juba I-II, Roman Legionaries (NOT Imitation Legionaries)

Page 3, Lines 1-2. Add "33" after "28" in Line 1 before "and 36". In Line 2, add "26, " after "33" and before "Roman Deserters"

Roman Infantry Rules, Circulating Combatants, Delete the entire "Circulating Combatants" section and replace with: CIRCULATING COMBATANTS: Advanced military techniques developed in Rome included the regular practice of circulating ranks and units to the front in hand-to-hand combat. To reflect these practices, as an exception to WARRIOR rules sections indicated below, Marian, EIR, Severan MIR legionaries and those troops named "Roman Legionaries" in lists 2, 3, 8, 14 and are NOT shaken, broken, broken-through, disembarking, contacted to the flank by an enemy body or in difficult terrain or in "fulcum" may:

> 1) Exchange one or more ranks during the Approach phase as a single formation change, instead of taking the entire move

> 2) Replace an element in contact with opponents with an element directly to its rear during the Approach or Counter/Retirment phase (as well as when making a Recoil move, 6.51), without dicing or being prompted, but only during the second bound of a continuing H-T-H combat. Such a replacing element counts as steady in the following H-T-H combat phase, even if its body is not otherwise considered steady; thereafter, it counts as having the cohesion of the worst affected element(s) in the body. Such a replacing element also counts as in first contact (9.3), even though its body is by definition already in contact; it does not count as charging or counter-charging (9.42).

> 3) Interpenetrate another body of such legionaries (6.52) not in "fulcum" to replace it in combat (6.163 and 6.523). Legionaries interpenetrating other legionaries in this way to replace them in combat are not disordered by virtue of the third and fourth bullets in 6.521, but are subject to all other causes of disorder specified in that section.

MACEDONIAN COMPANION CAVALRY RULES
Item 4, insert ", either alone or in combination with other Macedonian HC covered by this rule,"

BARBARIAN INFANTRY RULES
The following rules apply, in the case of Rule 1, to Irregular close/loose order infantry in all lists in Classical Warrior and, in the case of Rules 2-4, except where expressly stated not to apply, which troops are referred to here as Barbarian Infantry.
1. Close/loose order Barbarian Infantry may march on segment 3 if desired but take a fatigue point (FP) for doing so.
2. A body of Barbarian Infantry with 9 or more elements in total fights with 1/3 of the figures in any 3rd and/or 4th ranks directly behind those eligible to fight if the body meets all the following requirements:
   a. Charged or countercharged this bound or contacted opponents in a converted charge in the previous bound;
   b. The 1st and 2nd ranks are ALL armed with a close combat weapon other than SA and/or IPW;
   c. The 3rd and 4th ranks each contain at least one element armed with a close combat weapon other than SA and IPW;

d. Does not contain any element with 2HCT and/or HTW combined with another weapon; and

e. Contains at least one element of C morale grade class or better troops.

The 3rd and 4th ranks fight as "Other Weapons" but get no other Weapons Factors; they do count all Tactical Factors. In determining figures fighting in any 3rd and/or 4th ranks, add the number of figures in both ranks combined, take 1/3 of the combined total, and then round up.

3. A body of Barbarian Infantry with more than 8 elements is eager while any friendly body that does not include LC and/or LI within 240 paces is charging in the current bound or already in H-T-H combat and not broken or shaken.

4. Willing close order foot can counter-charge impetuous foot if not in Shieldwall. Eager close order Irr foot who counter-charge can be impetuous if not in Shieldwall.
